About the Teacher

Michael Ginsburg is a native of the United States and lives in New York City. For many years, he has been interested in Balkan music and dance, especially Gypsy and Macedonian. He is an expert in the complicated rhythms of Balkan music.

Michael has made several research trips to Bulgaria and the former Yugoslavia. He studied in Macedonia with Pece Atanasovski, with whom he made several research tours of the country. Since 1962, Michael has taught at dance venues all over North America, including the Herman's Maine Camp, EEFC Balkan Music & Dance Workshop, Mendocino Folklore Camp, San Francisco Kolo Festival, Stockton Folk Dance Camp, and Texas Camp. He has also taught groups in Asia, Europe and South America. His energetic and accessible teaching style make him a popular instructor.

Michael is director of the Zlatne Uste Balkan Brass Band of New York, which has performed twice in Macedonia and is well known among the folk dance community in the United States. The band has produced several music CDs and was twice asked to perform in Guča, Serbia. Michael plays the trumpet, accordion, frula and tupan.

Please help us welcome Michael on his first visit to the Twin Cities and to Tapestry Folkdance Center.
