

A Thank You Poem – by Paul Collins

An Ode to the Online Door County Folk Fest and All That Jazz

Moving the Door County Folk Fest online took a big chance;

We knew the risks of throwing a big dance;

We invest unlimited time and energy in planning a venue;

Not knowing whether anyone cares about offerings on our menu;

Despite obstacles, we continue with maddening persistence;

Looking for the right mix of people ready, willing and able to provide all kinds of assistance;

We learn things radically depart from events done face-to-face;

As the day approaches, despite things that aren't perfect, everyone will pitch in and things will fall into place;

While Zoom has challenged us to experience and explore new dance frontiers;

It's been great to connect many new to our community and those who've not been in touch for years.

